Army Enlistments Aid Draft Holiday

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 20.—New enlistment figures kindled hope in congressional quarters today that the Army may be able to prolong its voluntary induction holiday.

Latest returns showed that during June there were 62,493 enlistments in the army, or more than 20,000 above what the War department regards as its average monthly needs.

It may be said, Rep. Short (R-Mo.), who made the figures public, that the new draft extension law will not have to be used at all or at least that the induction holiday in force during July and August can be continued.

Army sources quickly pointed out that the heavy enlistment rate in June probably resulted from the graduation from school of thousands of teen-agers who assumed they would be drafted eventually or simply had been waiting for school's end to enlist.

"Many men had been waiting for congress to give evidence that he was going to raise the pay," he said, "and in June it was apparent that the raises would be ordered."

Selective Service has announced that it will call 25,000 men for induction in September, the first month after the current draft holiday.

Storms Miss Salem: Two
Girls Drown In Creek
Near Alliance

Rainstorms which beat south-eastward across Ohio Friday night missed Salem but helped to break the heat wave.

Thunderstorms approached the city during the night, but only a light rain fell. The mercury was at 77 today, compared to yesterday's high of 89. The low last night was 71.

The rain ended a day of scorching weather in which four persons drowned while seeking relief from the heat.

A speedboat crashed into submerged piling off Cleveland's Gordon park, spilling four young people into the lake. Edward Trobets, 25, and Gertrude Crawford, 19, drowned. The other couple was rescued.

Two Drown At Alliance

At Alliance Emma E. Fetters, 15, of Acme, Pa., and Laura Elizabeth May, 7, of Alliance, drowned in Deer creek near Bolton.

Swimming in the creek where there was about 12 feet of water the two girls evidently went down together.

They were in the water approximately 35 minutes before the bodies were recovered by city firemen.

A physician was called but neither victim responded to medical treatment.

At Newark 1.79 inches of rain ended a 21-day dry spell.

Cincinnati had its hottest day of the year—99.3 degrees—but showers came at the supper hour and dropped the temperature 13 degrees.

Other Ohio maximum temperatures Friday: Toledo 99, Findlay 98, Port Clinton 97, Springfield and Wilmington 95, Cleveland 94, Zanesville and East Liverpool 91, Akron and Columbus 88, Dayton 85.

W. State St. Crossing
To Close For Repairs

The closing of the W. State st. grade crossing for repairs next week will force the detouring of Route 14 and 62 traffic over E. and W. Pershing st., Service Director Frank Wilson announced today.

The Pennsylvania railroad plans extensive repairs to the crossing and work will commence Monday morning.

The highway traffic will be routed over Pershing st. between Lincoln and Sharp avenues and onto W. State st. via Sharp.

Chief of Police Nerr Gaunt said signs would be posted prohibiting parking on E. and W. Pershing st. to help speed the flow of traffic.

Buenos Aires Report Says
100 Persons Killed In Attempted Coup

(By Associated Press)

BUENOS AIRES, July 20.—Rebellious students fired on Bolivian cabinet ministers, wounding one and narrowly missing President Gualbert Villarroel, in a fresh disturbance at La Paz yesterday, said reports from Chile today.

Earlier reports said 100 persons were killed in an uprising Thursday which had for its aim the overthrow of Villarroel.

The Associated Press correspondent at Arica, in northern Chile, only about 200 miles from La Paz, said the new disturbances yesterday took place in the Bolivian capital in front of the government palace where President Villarroel and his ministers were making speeches from the balcony. One policeman was killed.

The report said the government alleged that Alfredo Rodriguez said to be acting under Communist instruction, was leader of the revolutionary uprising.

General Strike Prevails

A general strike was reported still in progress in La Paz. Officials of the Bolivian embassy here said the revolutionary uprising occurred Thursday afternoon when a group of heavily armed students staged a rebellion at the University of La Paz which was crushed within a few hours.

However, a dispatch from Arequipa, Peru, quoted private sources there as saying that the situation remained chaotic throughout the day yesterday, with bloody fighting and many persons killed.

The attempted coup was the second in Bolivia in the last five weeks.

BOY SLAYER FACES
TEST OF SANITY

OROVILLE, Calif., July 20.—District Attorney J. M. McPherson said today 14-year-old Albert Jones, who confessed two slayings and boasted of plans for a third, would be examined by a psychiatrist, but that the state would demand full satisfaction on double charges of murder.

Justice of the Peace S. P. Robbins, before whom Albert was arraigned on charges of two murders, one attempted murder and two assaults with intent to murder, assigned the case to the juvenile court. If it should decline jurisdiction, the accused boy would be held for superior court trial.

McPherson said that after the boy confessed strangling 14-year-old Patricia Ann Crantall and fatally shooting Mrs. H. J. Nielsen last Tuesday he blandly announced that he had chosen a third victim, a boy he called his "best friend."

Only one bid, that of the Chicago Pump Co., Chicago, Ill., was received by the board of control Friday for a new air diffusion system at the Salem sewage treatment plant.

A new aeration system is sought to replace the one now in use, which is inadequate, it is explained.

The Chicago firm's bid was $8,997.

A bid also was received for the water line extension pipe, authorized by council, from James B. Clow & Sons Co. of Chicago. The price on the pipe, as quoted by the bidder is $1.02 per foot. Delivery, however, cannot be made before five to six months.

LISBON, July 20.—"Columbiana county isn't such a bad place after all," declared George Moore, 102, as he rested in the County Home after traveling over western Pennsylvania and having "lodged" in the Stark and Carroll county institutions since taking "French leave" of the local in January in December, 1944.

Moore, a horseman, was photographed as he visited the stables at the county fairgrounds here, prior to trudging the three miles to the County Home, where Supt. and Mrs. Ray T. Adam again took him in.

Moore says he was born in Seattle, Wash., April 17, 1844, and Supt. Adam states he is mentally alert although infirm,—(but who wouldn't be after hiking about the country as he has).

Committee Awaits Rep.
May's Reaction To Subpoena Order

By JOHN W. HENDERSON

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Rep. John M. Coffee (D-Wash.) identified himself today as the congress member whose affairs are under scrutiny by the senate war investigating committee because of a $2,500 check sent to his secretary by a war contractor.

The committee was waiting to see how Rep. May (D-Ky.) would react to a subpoena for his appearance—to explain his connections with an Illinois munitions combine when it became known that another congressman was under investigation.

Welcomes Investigation

The committee did not name him, but in a statement made public today through his secretary at Tacoma, Coffee said he was the man. "I welcome an investigation on the entire matter," his statement added.

He said he received the check in the spring of 1941 as a campaign contribution from Elvin Anderson, Tacoma building contractor, by way of Paul A. Olson, who then was Coffee's secretary.

Coffee remarked that both Olson and Anderson ran for mayor of Tacoma in the primary this year and that Anderson was eliminated.

Before Coffee issued his statement it had become known that the War Investigating committee was off on a tack involving three photographic documents:

1. A check for $2,500, from a war contractor engaged on a $100,000 job, to the secretary of a congress member.

2. A letter from the secretary to the contractor expressing gratitude for assistance, and noting that expenses of the member's office in Washington were great.

3. A letter from the member to the contractor saying that the "clip of paper" given to his secretary was going to relieve a great deal of the member's worries.

May Hear May Tuesday

The correspondence was understood to disclose that the contractor had encountered difficulties in dealing with one of the government departments and had gone to the house member for help.

The latest effort to bring May, chairman of the house military committee, before the war profits inquiry for public testimony was a formal summons calling for his appearance next Tuesday. Chairman Mead (D-N.Y.) explained that this action was taken "only because it is absolutely necessary for us to do so."

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) and Mead agreed that the committee will take "all the steps the constitution will allow us" to compel May's appearance.

Scouts To Search
For Murder Clues

Alliance Boy Scouts were mobilized today by Alliance Police Chief Harry Stark to comb the fields and swamps along the Sandy road near where the body of murder victim Mrs. Geraldine Elizabeth Bock of Pittsburgh was found Wednesday morning.

Sheriff George Hayes of Columbiana county has hopes of finding some of the missing articles stolen from Mrs. Bock and possibly the murder gun.

Holding out little hope that fingerprints, taken by the state patrol, will be legible enough to provide any definite identification, Sheriff Hayes is pinning his hopes on digging up a clue or getting a tip from someone who may have seen the killer.

Authorities now firmly believe Mrs. Bock was dragged into the Sandy road swamp and killed by a hitch-hiker whom she befriended on her way to Alliance from Pittsburgh. The motive, it is believed, was robbery.

Mrs. Bock was buried Friday afternoon in the Alliance cemetery at rites attended by close friends and relatives.

Cankerworms of Self-Government

When Bilbo and Talmadges demonstrate their ability to win votes, representative democracy feels like apologizing for its defects.

One of the defects, noted by the nation's founders at the outset of their experiment with popular government and pointed out by many observers since then, is voters warped by ignorance and prejudice. Americans have been warned repeatedly that the key to the success of popular government was continuous education to improve the composite intelligence of voters, lest the least worthy pull down the most worthy into political ruin.

When to this handicap on the people's political progress is added that of manipulation of voting processes to thwart majority rule, such as occurred in Georgia's primary giving Eugene Talmadge the Democratic nomination for governor over an opponent who commanded a majority of the popular vote, confidence in popular government is hurt at its source—the credo that majority rule in the long pull will give a majority of the people what they deserve and want.

The Bilbo and Talmadges are conspicuous examples of the cankerworms that eat away at political freedom. There are many more examples, less conspicuous but scarcely less frightening in their implications. They serve, all together, a useful purpose. They remind every American that the price of liberty is eternal vigilance, not only for threats that come from outside but for those within.

Tapping The Private Secretaries

What the Senate was investigating committee claims to have found out in its munitions investigation by tapping private telephone conversations is peanuts compared to what it has put into the record by tapping some of the conversationalists' private secretaries.

According to the well-established rule that the capable women who manage the affairs of the nation's big operators know more about what is going on than the big operators themselves, private secretaries are the mother lode of confidential information. If it becomes fashionable to quiz them, instead of their employers, no male who is looking forward to an official investigation with misgivings will be safe.

The constitutional right to tap private telephone conversations is still challenged. If something is not done promptly to challenge the right to tap private secretaries, confused males who must employ methodical females to keep them straightened out are going to lose their last shred of dignity.

They must win this one, or there will be nothing left but wistful memories of a long-departed time when a man's private conversations and his private secretary were private and to tamper with either was unconstitutional, uncalled-for and unreasonable.

With Congressmen It's Different

As many others have wanted to do, Representative May of Kentucky wants a chance to defend himself properly in a congressional investigation. When a congressman gets ticked for this ordeal, he squawks.

The representative's apparent connection with a munitions combine whose war contracts have stirred suspicion is full of dynamite. He is chairman of the House military affairs committee. His whole political career could be ruined by the implications of the investigation by the Senate war investigating committee. Whether he is innocent or guilty of the suspicion of guilt which the committee has planted in the public mind is of small consequence. As a Washington old-timer, Representative May knows that a congressional investigation can ruin an innocent man, if that is its purpose. Hence, he is demanding "conditions conforming with established concepts of judicial fairness."

His desire for fairness seems reasonable—as reasonable as the desire of dozens of citizens pilloried by congressional investigators. The difference is that the desire in this case is being expressed in a good loud voice by a congressman. It tells the public a good deal about what congressmen think of investigations that turn into character assassinations with the victims denied the right to defend themselves. As for themselves, congressmen want none of them.

The Fight's Over

President Truman has no chance to know what anybody but his special advisers are thinking, which makes it hard for him to understand why the public is so far ahead of him on the price and profit control issue.

While he continues to talk as if everything depended on what kind of a bill he is going to veto, unless he can dictate its contents, the public has decided the fight is over.

Enforcement of the original Price Control Act had broken down so badly the law was repealing itself by non-observance. After an interval of no law and hence no enforcement, a major miracle would be required to get OPA back into a semblance of working order.

It just is not believable that all the adjustments which have been made since July 1 to termination of the Price Control Act would be undone. The national economy has swept on during these last few weeks, leaving the price and profit controllers crying over the dam that broke under pressure of popular opinion.

Whether one believes this is a good or a bad thing—and no one but leftwingers seem inclined to cry about it—the clock can't be turned back to June 30. Mr. Truman missed his only chance to continue OPA when he peevishly vetoed the best bill his congressional leaders said could be obtained from Congress. Whatever may be done now must take into account the realities of what has happened since OPA lapsed, chiefly the fact that a few weeks without it have made millions of converts to the claim that the country doesn't need it.

The Stars Say

For Sunday, July 21

SUNDAY'S horoscope holds auguries of a difficult, perplexing and intriguing state of affairs, in which there are many conflicts and contradictions. While there may be an outstanding prospect for the rewards of sound effort and well-organized attempts to solidify and secure the future and its progress, yet it is also probable that the energies and physical vitality may not be equal to putting over cherished plans and projects. Change, new tactics, renewed vitality, work wonders.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are on the verge of a year in which a decisive and concentrated marshaling of the forces, talents and techniques may bring about a dynamic prod to lagging, static or congested conditions.

Lagging energies, devitalized state of mind, nerves, and body, might be at root of defeat. Change, adventure, innovations or diversions, might compensate.

A child born on this day will be talented, inclined to diligent and constructive work to make advancement, but may be frustrated by false factors or a debilitated physical condition.

For Monday, July 22

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is for a very pleasant and gratifying state of affairs both in business and personal relations. The emphasis is placed on social, domestic, artistic and sentimental factors, in which the mentality, emotions, beauty, art, charm and personal magnetism are the framework for happy and prosperous circumstances.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a pleasant, prosperous and auspicious year for hopes, wishes, desires and aspirations. All efforts and activities may emphasize home, domestic, social, cultural interests, in which beauty, charm, friendship, loyalty and kindness find their own rewards.

A child born on this day should possess many talents, artistic, social, mental and spiritual. Its graces, charms and abilities assure happiness and prosperity.

Too many people kick when they haven't a leg to stand on.

Pain In the Sciatic Nerve

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

MOST people speak of sciatica as if it were a definite disease. In reality, it is only a symptom, and one which may be caused by a great variety of disorders.

We can readily understand why if we stop to realize that "sciatica" simply means pain along the great sciatic nerve which runs from the base of the spine down the back of the leg and thigh.

It is easy to see that any one of a number of disturbances in the regions through which this extensive nerve trunk passes, might produce pain. Pressure would do it, for one thing. An abnormal position of almost any of the bones or joints along its route might result in pinching of the nerve, or a tumor of the spine might crowd it.

Pain Anyhow

In either case, there would be pain. Thus a disturbance of the bones of the hip or lower part of the spine; arthritis of the joints in this area, or even disorders of the lower part of the abdomen, may cause sciatica.

When the nerve itself is disordered by inflammation, we have the condition known as sciatic neuritis, a fairly common and very painful ailment.

In order to tell this condition from other cases of sciatica, the doctor puts pressure over the sciatic nerve. If tenderness occurs, it means that actual inflammation of the nerve itself is present.

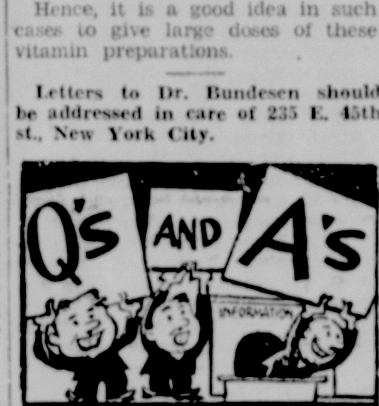

Comes Gradually

Sciatic neuritis may come on suddenly or gradually. It is important that this condition of sciatic neuritis be told from other cases of sciatica because sciatic neuritis may be treated medically, while in other types of sciatica some type of surgical treatment may be required.

Sciatic neuritis often will clear up with the application of heat and rest in bed. An effort should be made to discover infections which may be present in the teeth, tonsils, and sinuses which, of course, should be eliminated. It is true that deficiency or a lack of vitamin B-complex may be a cause of nerve inflammation.

Hence, it is a good idea in such cases to give large doses of these vitamin preparations.

Letters to Dr. Bundesen should be addressed in care of 235 E. 43th st., New York City.

Q—How wide is the Thames River at London?

Q—How many Philippine Islands are there?
A—7883, but only 1095 are inhabited.

A—Nagasaki, 20,000 killed per square mile to 15,000 at Hiroshima.

Q—What was the origin of the term "drink a toast"?
A—It came from the old English custom of putting a piece of toast in a wine cup before drinking, from a notion that toast improved the flavor.

Q—Do the number of rattles on a rattlesnake indicate the snake's age?
A—Not reliably, since with age rattles wear off. Usually the rattles are much older than the rattles would indicate.

Walkie-Talkies Headache To Government

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
WASHINGTON — The walkie-talkie which has taken a terrific run-over from comedians and cartoonists, is no joke to the Federal Communications Commission. Along with other surplus Government radio equipment, the walkie-talkie is a large headache that has been magnified ever since a young ex-Navy radioman, and a trio of accomplices, parlayed one of those portable two-way radios, at those crackling, and youthful darning into a large haul of folding money lifted from a number of New York concerns.

The New York walkie-talkie gang was nabbed, to be sure, and thus far it is the only successful case of such utilization of this type of radio. But the FCC, which has the job of policing the air waves and legal broadcasts, doesn't feel better.

The precaution set down by the FCC was side-stepped by the New York youths because the leader, who has his own walkie-talkie. Actually, you can't buy one unless you get a license to use it, although the advertising for walkie-talkies often omit that qualification. And no license will be issued to the FCC except in the amateur service. This requires special examinations which the average person could not pass.

The cheering thought that this will prevent your wife from calling you up on your way to the corner store, however, is chilled by the fact that FCC is studying a plan which would permit ordinary citizens to use walkie-talkies on a special band set aside just for this purpose.

The job of the FCC in constantly monitoring the air for illegal broadcasts is complicated by military developments during the war which discovered, along with the walkie-talkie, that there was 300 times more room in the ether than previously had been known.

MUST BE LICENSED

And it is further complicated by the fact that anyone who is buying the surplus radio equipment cheaply and doesn't know how to use it, they don't understand that all forms of broadcasting — regardless of wave-length used or how weak the signals might be — have to be licensed by the government. The result is interference with regular broadcasts, plane communications, and other legitimate uses.

The FCC has nine primary stations all over the U. S., and 13 secondary stations constantly monitoring the ether. In addition there are 100 mobile direction finder units in operation which can locate the exact spot of unlicensed radio sending.

According to law, the penalty for an illegal broadcast is a fine not to exceed $10,000, imprisonment for two years, or both. Most teen-agers caught misusing transmitting equipment are let off with a severe lecture, with the New York walkie-talkie gang, of course, as a notable exception to this kindly attitude. Malicious intent brings stern prosecution, since Jan. 1, the FCC has brought more than 60 cases into court, and some of the defendants already are serving time.

GAMBLER'S TRICK

Crooked race track gamblers tampering with FCC monitors is an old story. The idea is to flash a running account of the race, while it is still in progress, to a confederate who places late bets with a bookie. In 1940 at Charleston, two illicit operators were caught using a portable transmitter about the size of a camera and a larger transmitter set outside the track as a relay station. Both men are in jail. The latest happened last month. Two men were nabbed just before they went on the air at Belmont Park, according to FCC their transmitter was set to operate on the same channel as that used at LaGuardia Field. FCC says if they had gone on the air they might have set up enough interference on that channel to cause a plane crash.

Another important use of the monitoring facilities of the FCC is in finding lost airplanes. Direction finders all over the country point a beam on the plane. The information is given immediately to Washington and the plane is spotted on a map where the lines from two or more stations cross. The pilot

Dr. Henry W. Garsson Milton H. Pettit Benjamin F. Fields Albert W. Jacobson

PROMINENT FIGURES in the Senate War Investigating committee's probe into war profiteering include those pictured above. Appearing at the inquiry is Dr. Henry W. Garsson, described as "the brain" behind the "fantastic" $78,000,000 war contract empire, who declares Rep. Andrew J. May of Kentucky "never profited" from his role as Kentucky agent for Garsson's Batavia, Ill., Metal Products company. A report of Army contracts with this company, prepared by Albert W. Jacobson, civilian employee of the war department whose salary increased from $1,620 to $9,975 a year, was reported by Sen. James Mead of New York, chairman of the Senate committee, as such a "whitewash" as almost to throw the senators off the trail of the investigation. Milton H. Pettit, chairman of the Army ordnance committee on awards, exclaimed "What price political expediency" in telling the committee of the presentation of the "E" pennant to the Batavia, Ill., company, over objections of the Chicago ordnance office. New witness before the committee is Benjamin F. Fields, twice accused of bribery in connection with the probe, who was subpoenaed by the senators when he returned to the capital city after being "abroad."

Eggnog Shampoo Brightens Hair

By ALICIA HART

How to obtain the brightening effects on the hair of an egg shampoo without lathering an uncooked omelette over your head is a feat cosmetic science helps you to put across.

A new, ready-prepared, eggnog shampoo, containing the real ingredients in concentrated form, makes the egg as easy for the hair to take as a pleasant liquid soap.

Two latherings of the stuff, rubbed into hair like suds and rinsed off with tepid water, will free hair of dulling film like a fairy-tale princess freed of her thrall.

Women who use egg shampoos as subtle bleaches will like this one also for the other ingredients it contains to make the hair stay put and give it extra shine.

Christian Churches Of County To Hold Fairgrounds Rally

Members of Christian churches in Columbiana county, numbering approximately 1,000, are expected to gather at the Lisbon fairgrounds Sunday for the annual county-wide communion service sponsored by the County Christian brotherhood.

Ray D. Thomson of Lisbon is chairman in charge.

The 3 p. m. service will be held in the grandstand and the communion message will be given by Rev. Gerald Goldner of Warren.

Music will feature the Junior choir of the East Liverpool church, the Men's chorus and an orchestra from the Wellsville church.

Rev. Goldner, who will also speak at the evening service at 8, when the churches of Lisbon will unite with the county-wide group, will relate his experiences when he and his father, Rev. Jacob Goldner, were captured by bandits while on a trip to the Holy Land a few years ago. The elder Goldner was the pastor of the Euclid Avenue Christian church in Cleveland for 40 years.

Victories By Second Place Clubs Tighten League Races

Crescents Win On Two-Hit Job By Clunen; Jaycees Win Over Oilers To Again Tie For 4th

Behind a tight two-hit pitching job by John Clunen, Leetonia's Crescents swept to their 10th victory of the year Friday night by shutting out the Electric Furnace by a score of 5-0 at Centennial park. The victory pulled the out-of-towners up to within a game and a half of Mullins in the American league race.

The Jaycees moved back into their cozy tie for fourth with the Eagles by winning their tilt with Sinclair 3-1.

Leetonia hardly worked up a sweat in whitewashing the Furnace squad. Clunen had the game in the bag all the way and the losers did not mark up a hit until the fifth. The Crescent twirler issued two passes and fanned two.

The second place club collected two runs in the first frame on a pair of walks and a single by Neil Kegelmeyer, followed by a double by Guy Beltempo. Kegelmeyer also led off with a single in the fourth as his team notched three more runs. He has been batting strongly all season and only the fact that he has not played three-quarters of his team's games prevents his name from being listed as one of the league's leading sluggers.

Warren Courtney, on the hill for the Electric Furnace walked three and struck out one.

The Sinclair Oilers practically made a gift of their game with the Jaycees in one bad inning.

All the scoring in the tilt was done in the second frame. An infield pop fly which was dropped due to a mixup in calling for the ball by the catcher and third baseman, gave the Jaycees a life and an opportunity to push across their winning runs.

Both pitchers worked creditable games. John McQuiston limited the weak hitting Sinclair 10 to five base hits as he "K'd" six and walked one. Chet Brautigam was touched for eight bingles.

Twirler McQuiston paced his team at the plate by rapping two singles in three trips. His spree climaxed several weeks of heavy hitting and boosted his average to a neat .429 for the season.

Bob Miller, as usual, was top man at the dish for Sinclair. He nudged a double and a single in three trips.

The Jaycees set the stage for the game Monday with the Eagles, which should attract a lot of interest. The winner will hold fourth place by one full game and have a big edge in the playoff race.

St. Louis Bludgeon

Zale' Graziano Will Outlaw Louis and Conn

BY NED BROWN
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—Middleweights are expected to give boxing a much needed shot in the arm when Tony Zale and Rocky Graziano battle 15 rounds or less for the title at Yankee stadium, July 25.

This fight is expected to outdraw the late unlamented Joe Louis-Billy Conn fandango in attendance with 50,000. The gate probably will exceed $350,000 at from $3 to $30.

Graziano, a local boy who made good by punching, is the best New York drawing card boxing has had since Louis was in his prime, although the ignited Italian from Manhattan's lower east side may be greatly overrated because his victims were mostly lighter men. This bout should prove his real class.

Zale, never a standout attraction, is 32, same age as Louis, has been in the Navy as long as the Brown Bomber was in the Army, but looks and acts much younger, and has scored six knockouts in 20 rounds since his discharge—against tailor-made competition of course.

In Tip-Top Shape
Both fighters appear to be in superb physical condition.

Graziano's left hand is vastly more formidable than it was, but it is still a case of an unadulterated slugger with only one thought in mind against a rugged warrior who combines a punishing punch, especially to the body, with a measure of skill.

Public fancy leans toward the swifter, which makes Graziano, who has a tremendous New York following, the favorite at 5 to 11, one of the few cases where a challenger was favored over a champion in a titular engagement.

Zale has advantages in weight, six pounds, and height, but Graziano has a much more important pull in age. He's only 24. The Gary steelworker plans to come in at 159, stands five feet eight-and-one-half. The homegrown figure to step into the battle pit at 153. He is five feet seven inches tall.

In his only bout against a mid-dleweight, Graziano was hard put to eke out a decision over Sonny

BY LESLIE TURNER

Horne in 10 rounds at Madison Square Garden last spring.

Graziano showed vast improvement in timing during workouts at Greenwood Lake, N. J., where he boxed 180 rounds with tough sparring partners. Rocky Rocky insisted on making each training session a real fight.

Zale put in 130 rounds of boxing at Pompton Lakes, N. J., spending most of his time perfecting a body attack.

Age Angle
In doping the fight ringworms point out that the age angle didn't seem to affect Louis in his dance with Conn. The fact remains, however, that Graziano has a terrific pull in the matter of youth, also that he is an intensely aggressive slugger with a potent punch, something Conn sadly lacked.

Zale appeared to be training for a short fight as if he hoped to wear out his foe with punishing blows to the body.

Graziano gave the impression that he could go on forever, wound up each day's work eager for more.

Jake LaMotta was richly entitled to fight Graziano for the right to tackle Zale, and Sugar Robinson, a welterweight, ranks ahead of both on the strength of having beaten the Bronx Iron Man four times out of five.

Graziano is the superior bucks office in New York, however, and money never fails to talk in the back busting business.

And unless signs and portents fail, Tony Zale and Rocky Graziano should go a long way toward making the long suffering fight public forget the Louis-Conn fiasco.

Ritchie Hurls Team To Win Over Salem Lunch; Guappones Star As IAC Holds 4th Place

Second place Salem China of the National league staved off a late inning rally by the Salem Lunch to gain their 11th win of the season by a score of 5-4 at Centennial park Friday night.

The IAC strengthened their hold on fourth by whipping Washingtonville 8-4 in the other loop game.

The China moved up to within a half game of Demings in the league race by defeating the Lunchers in a tight game. The Potters tallied four times in the initial stanza and added the deciding run in the fourth.

The Lunch made their spurt in the fifth and sixth, as they got all their four runs.

Dale Ritchie, again hurling a good game for the China, held the Lunch to six hits. He was hindered considerably by errors by his teammates, but managed to strike out four opponents.

Bennett, Lunch pitcher, gave up eight hits, walked three and fanned three.

Ritchie and Bruce Cope each collected two safeties to pace the winners.

Bill Guappone, on the hill for the IAC, pitched a sparkling four hitter against Washingtonville, striking out seven hitters and walking only one.

Herron, the Bingville hurler, yielded eight blows, passed two and fanned three.

Joe Nonno and Tut Guappone each slammed homers for the winners. Guappone also collected a brace of singles to lead his team at the plate.

It was a fairly close game until the fifth when the IAC exploded with four runs featured by successive homers by Nonno and Guappone.

The victory put the Italians a game and a half ahead of Washingtonville and the Saxons, who are tied for fifth. They are likewise a game and a half out of third.

STEPS TAKEN TO REMOVE GARBAGE IN CANTON STRIKE

(By Associated Press)
CANTON, July 20—Under a declaration of public emergency, city officials today took steps to dispose of garbage piled up for the past four days as a result of a strike by 225 city service department workers, including 32 garbage truck drivers.

The Canton board of health declared "a state of public emergency" existed at 6 p. m. yesterday, after strikers rejected a plea for a 48-hour truce to permit removal of refuse described as a health menace.

The declaration ordered garbage collected by whatever means officials deemed necessary, and Mayor Carl F. Klein promised police protection to persons employing private haulers to remove bulging garbage cans. Pickets have been stationed at hotels and restaurants to watch for any attempt to remove the waste.

Health officials asked the truce, promising to intercede during the truce period in an effort to obtain a settlement. Anthony Vetrone, union field representative, said the union would become "a laughing stock if we went back to work for 48 hours."

He declared the union called off a strike after four days last month on "promises" and that city council "did not go alone" with recommendations of an arbitration panel. The city service employees seek a wage increase of 10 cents an hour.

L. A. Blackledge, president of the CIO United Public Workers of America, which represents the city workers, made no comment on the health board's action.

By UNITED PRESS
A public demonstration protesting the rising cost of living and the attitude of government officials was held today in many cities.

Labor's favorite weapon—the strike—in the hands of the consumer public is becoming a growing bulwark against runaway inflation. Although cattle prices continue to hit new all-time highs, some wholesale food costs are reported leveling off and many localities report higher-priced meats and butter are piling up in refrigerators while buyers patronize near-OPA prices. Labor-sponsored anti-inflation mass meetings are spreading the buyers' strike throughout the nation.
